Public Choice (2005) 123: 505–506

Public Choice

Contents of Volume 123, 2005

Volume 123, Nos. 1–2

Editorial Commentaries on the Politics of the Electoral College in U.S. Presidential Elections

B. Grofman and S.L. Feld, Thinking About the Political Impacts of the Electoral College 1–18
J. Merolla, M. Munger and M. Tofias, In Play: A Commentary on Strategies in the 2004 U.S. Presidential Election 19–37

Articles

G.H. Roseman, Jr. and E.F. Stephenson, The Effect of Voting Technology on Voter Turnout: Do Computers Scare the Elderly? 39–47
G. Tullock, Problems of Voting 49–58
K. Hausken, Production and Conflict Models versus Rent-Seeking Models 59–93
G.A. Hoover and P. Pecorino, The Political Determinants of Federal Expenditure at the State Level 95–113
D.G. Arce M. and L.B. Gunn, Working Well with Others: The Evolution of Teamwork and Ethics 115–131
C. Bjørnskov, Does Political Ideology Affect Economic Growth? 133–146
L.P. Feld and C.A. Schaltegger, Voters as a Hard Budget Constraint: On the Determination of Intergovernmental Grants 147–169
A.U. Poulsen and G.T. Svendsen, Social Capital and Endogenous Preferences 171–196
J. Cadigan, The Citizen Candidate Model: An Experimental Analysis 197–216
J.R. Rogers, The Impact of Divided Government on Legislative Production 217–233

Book Reviews

S. Kernell (Ed.), James Madison: The Theory and Practice of Republican Government (A.A. Lockard) 235–241
M. Thornton and R.B. Ekelund Jr., Tariffs, Blockades, and Inflation: The Economics of the Civil War (W.F. Shughart) 243–248

W.M. Crain, Volatile States: Institutions, Policy, and the Performance of American State Economies (D. Schap) 249–251

Volume 123, Nos. 3–4

Articles

A. Przeworski, Democracy as an equilibrium 253–273
A. Alesina, I. Angeloni, L. Schuknecht, What does the European Union do? 275–319
A. Afonso, L. Schuknecht, V. Tanzi, Public sector efficiency: An international comparison 321–347
J.R. Lott, Jr, The impact of early media election calls on Republican voting rates in Florida's western Panhandle counties in 2000 349–361
P. Garner, E. Spolaore, Why chads? Determinants of voting equipment use in the United States 363–392
D. Zhang, D. Laband, From Senators to the President: Solve the lumber problem or else 393–410
D. Gill, C.S. Lipsmeyer, Soft money and hard choices: Why political parties might legislate against soft money donations 411–438
L.W. Kenny, B. Lotfinia, Evidence on the importance of spatial voting models in presidential nominations and elections 439–462
S.H. Manzoor, J.D. Straub, The robustness of Kingma's crowd-out estimate: Evidence from new data on contributions to public radio 463–476
F.G. Mixon, Jr., C.C. Crocker, H.T. Black, Pivotal power brokers: Theory and evidence on political fundraising 477–493

Instructions to Authors 495–501

Author Index 503

Volume Contents 505–506